

Koi feeding stuff with Bio Quality Seal - an absolute first of its kind !!

Genki4Koi Natural Food® is the first Premium Koi feeding stuff to be awarded the German Bio Quality Seal.

Ingredients list of the 100% raw materials from organic agriculture. As well as using high-quality organic raw materials and ensuring the sustainable catching of fine fish, Genki4Koi Natural Food® was also developed for strengthening the immune system of your koi.

Garlic and light yams strengthen probiotic cultures that thus develop in the intestines of the koi. A balanced amino acid profile from first-class fish meal and high-quality selected vegetable protein sources make the feeding stuff very digestible, with maximum taste for minimum water intake.

Garlic

Koi love garlic and its antibacterial and probiotic effects have been known for centuries.

Fine fish from sustainable stocks

This special fish meal, an indispensable supply of animal protein, is produced from sustainable stocks.

What does sustainable fishing actually mean ?

Sustainable fishing means that the fishing methods used will conserve stocks and not lower the ability to reproduce of the target fish species (no overfishing), preventing damage to the ecological system (e.g. the bottom of the sea) and largely minimising the proportion of the catch that is unwanted.

Sustainable fish products can be sourced from deep-sea fishing, freshwater fishing, angling and aquaculture.

Organic light yams

In certain southern European countries, the yam root, also known as the sweet potato, is a popular food. The plant also grows in the tropics and subtropics.

Organic spirulina

This algae has been used for years as a food supplement.
